First Presbyterian Church will host a prayer vigil this afternoon for peace in Ukraine, and for other areas around the world where there are conflicts.

The vigil is noon-6 p.m. in the church sanctuary, 324 Madison St.

Attendees can stop in and pray during part of or all of the vigil.

“We encourage you to share the opportunity with your friends, family and neighbors,” the Rev. Angela Madden said in a news release. “The church hopes people of the community stop by and join together in prayer.”
